Time and Place in Textile Art

Claire Wellesley-Smith

This fascinating book explores how to introduce notions of time and place to your textile art practice, to give deeper meaning and emotional resonance to your work. Claire Wellesley-Smith demonstrates how these two fundamental concepts are linked – we experience time through place, and vice versa – and make endlessly rewarding themes for textile art. Illustrated with exquisite examples of the author's own textile work and that of other artists from around the world who embrace similar topics, this thoughtful, contemplative book offers a wealth of inspiration on how to incorporate these important themes into your own textile art practice.

Beautiful Butterflies

Martina Frank

Drawn to the wonder of these fascinating pollinators, Martina Frank has a passion for replicating their beauty in stitch, carefully depicting them in a naturalistic manner. She captures the dazzling displays from bold, vibrant markings to delicate shading and tiny, mosaic-like pops of colour that add a subtle liveliness to the embroidered wings. With nine butterflies to choose from, create a three-dimensional display celebrating the varied forms from oakleaf to swallowtail. Each butterfly is accompanied by a large close-up photograph with thread colour key and detailed embroidery instructions.
